

What should be a cause for celebration quickly descends into chaos as Hollywood movie producer Don/ Donna Canneloni announces that he/she is appalled at the film after just seeing the trailer! Accusations fly, tempers rise, and finally, we have a double murder! 'I'm Your Number One Fang' is a hilariously fun and entertaining night for actors and audience alike.

What's a Murder Mystery Event?

The audience members are brought together for a unique and immersive 'special event' (and encouraged to dress appropriately for the occasion). A murder takes place, which the participants are invited to solve.

In this case

- The event is a dinner to celebrate the imminent launch of Buena Pasta Pictures' new horror/vampire movie, "I'm Your Number One Fang!" Previous movies by the same director were box office flops.
- The seven main actors play people involved in the movie business, such as actors, directors, producers, etc. The ensemble actors play other people in the movie business, such as actors, critics, backers, etc.
- As the actors progress with the speeches, the plot mystery develops until not one but two of the characters are found murdered.
- The audience, who play Hollywood movers and shakers, are attending the dinner and will work to solve the crime.
